From our President ...

Rediscover Delta Kappa Gamma

KAREN FAYARD
Zeta State President

It is important that we keep our members. Rediscovering Delta Kappa Gamma will remind all members of why they are a part of this organization. The first step in rediscovering is recommitment. Every chapter should have a recommitment ceremony. It reminds us of the meaning of the mission statement and the purposes of the Society and why we accepted the invitation of membership. International has a new Recommitment Program that is fantastic. I urge all chapters to use it sometime during the biennium. It can be found on the International web site and Karen Rhodes, Zeta State Membership Chairman, has a copy that she will be happy to share with all of the chapters. Another way to rediscover our Society is to attend our district meeting this spring. The workshops of district meetings focus on the business of the Society. Not only will you learn or relearn about the work of Delta Kappa Gamma, but you will enjoy the genuine spiritual fellowship!

Chapter nomination committees should be actively recruiting members to accept positions on the chapter executive team. Members should not be hesitant in accepting a leadership position at the chapter level! You were invited to membership because of your excellence in teaching and your potential for leadership. The Leadership Development Committee has been working diligently on a "Chapter Leaders Training Retreat" to prepare new officers for their roles. The retreat will be held in Brandon June 8th and June 9th. I urge you not turn down an opportunity to serve Delta Kappa Gamma. Leading a chapter is not the job of one person; it is a team effort. It is a very rewarding experience.

The international Educational Excellence Committee (EEC) is going to present a motion at the 2012 international convention to make "Support for Early-Career Educators" a second international project in addition to "Schools for Africa." As you all know, many teachers leave the profession within the first few years. The Society recognizes the seriousness of this loss of educators. Many Zeta State chapters have been participating in a mentoring program project for a number of years. Assisting an early-career educator is a great community service project and helps our Society become better known in the educational community. It would be wonderful if all the chapters would implement a "Support of Early-Career Educators" project. Start small and let it grow!

It is important that chapters support the international projects. One of our Zeta State goals is that each chapter contribute to "Schools for Africa" during the biennium. Please send your chapter contribution to Sarah Smith, and she in turn will send it to international. This will allow the state to have an accurate list for recognition of chapters participating in the project. If your chapter members have not seen the video about the project, please show it! Small contributions do big things! I look forward to seeing many of you at our upcoming district meetings so that together we can rediscover and strengthen the joys of our membership.

Schools for Africa Newsletter

January 2012 Volume 9

Cathy P. Daugherty

January is always a good time to look back and assess one's efforts during the past year. Many people make resolutions consciously or subconsciously. Others forego this rite and concentrate on addressing goals as the need or inclination arises throughout the year. Whatever the case may be, it is evident that many DKG chapters and their members undertook to include support for the Schools for Africa project this past year.

Lacey Stone from the New York office of the UNICEF/U.S. Fund reports that a total of $56,381 has been donated by Society members since the project began at the start of the 2010-2012 biennium. This time last year around $9,000 had been collected making this past year's collection upwards of $47,000. What a marvelous first full year response!

Wouldn't it be wonderful to have at least $75,000 donated by the 2012 DKG International Convention this summer in New York City? Call it a resolution or call it a goal, but undertake to make this a reality. Remember, the donation form is located on the DKG Web site (www.dkg.org). Click first on the Educational Excellence Committee link on the homepage and then the SFA icon at the bottom of that page.

Program Ideas from the DKG International Website:

Purposes 6 and 7

When a chapter focused on children's nutrition – members published a book on childhood nutrition where children plant, harvest and eat their own foods.

Children's nutritional issues along with Michelle Obama's childhood obesity project and the work of Jamie Oliver all present possibilities for fascinating and timely programs whether or not they end as a nucleus for a chapter project.

Purpose 7

Dinner and a workshop making holiday cards with women from a local home transitioning from incarceration to community living was a special meeting for a chapter before the holidays.

Learning about special programs for women in the community is more impactful if there is personal involvement from the chapter.

Targeted

Society Purpose 1

To unite women educators of the world in a genuine spiritual fellowship.

Program Plan

Use "getting to know you" activities at the beginning of meetings throughout the year. They can be short and fun.

Process/Activity

Here are some activities you might find useful.

Stand Up

Stand up if.....

- You have traveled this summer
- You have a brother
- This is your first year in DKG
- You are an elementary educator, secondary educator, post-secondary educator
- You are an officer/committee chair
- You twitter
- You have a relative who is a DKG member
- You are the oldest child in your family
- Any others that might fit your chapter

Your New Best Friend

Interview a member that you are not sitting beside. Find out the following information.

- Her accomplishments as a professional educator
- Her contributions/experiences as a DKG member
- One thing that drives her crazy when working on committees
- One thing that most members do not know about her
- The best book she ever read
- A high school accomplishment
- A great achievement

Now without telling about Your New Best Friend, recommend a program she could present to your DKG chapter based on what you have learned about her.

Welcome New Members!

- Mary Beth Wentworth, Alpha Omicron
- Sondra Adams, Alpha Upsilon
- Allison Downing, Alpha Gamma
- Mary McCraine, Chi
- Morgan Abraham, Chi
- Stephanie Wilson, Chi
- Nancy Hicks, Chi
- Heather McKenzie, Theta
- Beth McKay, Pi
- Janet Armour, Eta
- Ahsaki Games, Eta
- Denise Hodge, Eta
- Yolanda Randle, Eta
- Lavern Fowler, Alpha Iota

In Memoriam

- Virginia Carmichael, Gamma
- Eva Nicholson, Chi
- Anna Mae Williams, Delta
- Wilma Ponder, Alpha Chi
- Elizabeth Stormo, Eta

Congratulations!

- Denise Hodge, Eta, National Board Recertification
- Anita McGraw, Eta, Doctorate
- Allison Downing, Alpha Gamma, Doctorate
- Edye Skibbe, Pi, National Board Recertification
- Betsy Sullivan, Pi, Doctorate
- Gail Hammond, Pi, Doctorate
- Kim Brown, Gamma, National Board Certification
- Sondra Adams, Alpha Upsilon, National Board Recertification
- Lady Bruce, Alpha Upsilon, National Board Recertification

Congratulations!

Eta Chapter member Kim Fandel was selected as Tupelo Public School District Teacher of the Year on Tuesday. This follows her being one of five Mississippi educators recently recognized by the Mississippi Hall of Master Teachers ceremony at Mississippi University for Women.

Mrs. Fandel has represented the Tupelo Public School district on many levels - locally, state wide, regionally, nationally and internationally. She has been a part of teams who presented and trained teachers and assistant teachers during staff development workshops. She has presented research papers at regional early childhood conferences and was a part of a literacy delegation in Beijing, China. Mrs. Fandel continues to contribute to the professional development of novice teachers as well as to share with colleagues. She has supervised student interns, mentored new teachers and teachers working to achieve National Board Certification.

Eta Chapter is extremely proud to have members who serve both their schools and their communities.

Omega shares...

Grant-in-Aid Awarded Omega's Grant-in-Aid recipient, Kacie Kirkland, is a junior elementary education major at MSU. She was unable to attend because of recently having a baby. Congratulations, Kacie!

Numeracy and Literacy Project One of Omega's projects was completed at our Nov. meeting, when Celeste presented Pam Smith, Lawrence County High School librarian with a copy of the book, Flight from Monticello.

Rosenwald Foundation

One of Omega's goals was to locate the Rosenwald Foundation funded school in Jeff Davis, Lawrence, and Walthall counties. These schools provided African-American children with the opportunity to learn to read and write. Our community project is to donate one hundred dollars to the Prentiss Institute which is being renovated into a museum.

Alpha Iota and "Two Can Read"

Alpha Iota chapter in West Point joined with the local Bryan Library, Excel by 5, and West Point Career and Technology Early Childhood Education class in December to launch the Two Can Read preschool reading program.

Two Can Read, with its colorful toucan as its playful symbol, is a joint effort to engage parents and preschool children in a year-long program that will provide free books and encourage reading at home. The creative literacy project grew out of a perceived need and many brainstorming sessions among members of the Alpha Iota Chapter.

Preschool children and their parents participating in the program receive free books and a small milk chug in which they collect coins. The child brings back his collected change each time to receive a new book. The collected change supplements the purchase of additional books to be given to children each time they attend.

Alpha Upsilon pays it forward...

In August of 2005 over three fourths of our chapter was effected by Hurricane Katrina. We have NEVER forgotten the generosity shown to us by complete strangers. As a result, we have done many "pay it forward" projects to other victims of loss from Galveston to the September 11th Project in Shanksville, PA. Just days after our December meeting, I mailed two packages containing 31 gift towel packets to Dr. Dorothy Kerzel, Professor of Mathematics, at Mississippi University for Women. She delivered our chapter's "pay it forward" gifts to Smithville, MS. These gift towels contained notes and monetary gifts for the April 2011 tornado victims. Our chapter also collected food items and books for the Hancock County Food Pantry in October.

Alpha Beta's Stacy Reeves, of Hattiesburg Published

Congratulations to Stacy Reeves of Hattiesburg for having her article "Splinter Skills Do Not Make Students Sharper Meeting the Needs with Chronic Illnesses and Absenteeism" published in the Winter 2012 issue of the Delta Kappa Gamma Bullet.

Fund-raising Ideas from Alpha Theta

Our best fundraiser ever !!! It's quick-it's easy-it's a "no-brainer". For the past two years our chapter has held a silent auction just among our members. Each member is asked to bring at least 1 auction item that is new, gently used, or a re-gift item. For 30 minutes prior to our meeting, each member has a chance to view the items and write their bid.

Naturally, some items are more popular and the bidding wars begin. Bids close when the meeting begins, and the winners of the items are announced at the closing. This is fun, exciting, and sometimes humorous, and it is 100% profit. In 2010 we made over $700, and 2011 we made over $500. I'd say that's a pretty good profit for 30 minutes ! The only preparation for this auction is bid sheets with pencils that are placed on the display tables.

Examples of popular items:

- New jackets or sweaters given in the wrong size never worn
- Homemade cakes, brownies, and canned goods.
- Frozen venison and frozen homegrown vegetables
- Plant cuttings
- Accent lamps
- Paintings

Alpha Gamma's Althea Jerome, Mississippi Arts Commission for the Arts in Education Governor's Award

Congratulations to our own Althea Jerome for being selected by the Mississippi Arts Commission for the Arts in Education Governor's Award. The long form that is well worth reading is on the commission's website, but I think we already know the truth of the final sentence. "Althea is extremely driven in her work as a teaching artist and brings great enthusiasm to the goal of providing high-quality arts education experiences to the students of our state."

Alpha Theta members!

Carol Rawlings, McComb's First Lady and a retired educator, has been appointed McComb Excel By 5 Chairman. The Excel By 5 program is an initiative to recognize McComb as a Certified Child Friendly Community, and it focuses on children from birth through 5 years of age. This program requires 2 years in order to be certified and provides support to the children and their parents using various resources. Carol will coordinate the educational aspects and community support through involvement in the program.

Delores Feldman, member of Alpha Theta, is presently serving as the Judges Credentials Coordinator for The Garden Clubs of Mississippi. She is responsible for the education of the judges who serve throughout the state at various shows for The Garden Clubs of Mississippi. Mrs. Feldman, a retired teacher, is the owner of Holmes Stationers and Teacher Supply Store in the Summit/McComb area.

Ganeath Brewer, President of Alpha Theta Chapter, is serving her third year as President of the Summit Historical Society. Under her presidency, the organization moved and rehabilitated the 1907 Liberty-White Railroad Depot of the Holmesville community which had been abandoned since the late 1920's. The depot now sits next to the railroad tracks in Summit, MS and serves as a town museum, a meeting hall, and a showplace for art shows, book signings, and children's activities. Book signings by Curtis Wilkie, author of The Fall of the House of Zeus, and Susan Haltom, co author of One Writer's Garden: Eudora Welty's Home Place, have been featured at the restored depot. This project was possible through a grant from the Mississippi Department of Archives and History.

Beta Chapter

On Saturday, October 1, the Beta Chapter of DKG participated in the Northside Elementary School Carnival in Clinton, MS. Beta set up a table at the carnival where a representative of the Clinton Police Department handed out fingerprinting packets to parents. While the parents visited with the policeman, the children were able to draw a ticket to win either a book or a bookmark. Over 100 books donated by the members of Beta and 200 bookmarks were given away that day! Members assisting at the carnival were Ann McFarland, Ruthie Stevenson, Claudia Steele (along with 2 of her MC students), and Sylvia Haver. It was a fun way to share our love for literacy with the students.

Attention: Past Leadership Management Seminar Participants

If you have attended Zeta State Leadership Management Seminar, please stop by the LMS Table located near Registration at your District Meeting. We would like to give a special recognition to all past participants and request your help in helping us promote the 2013 Leadership Management Seminar. Make plans now to attend your District Meeting!
